DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
2. Claims 1-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ancarani Restelli.

Ancarani Restelli discloses in he Figure, lines 12-33 of column 1, and in lines 29-35 of column 3 a gear shifting system for a bicycle transmission which operates in three modes, a manual mode, an automatic mode, and a programming mode wherein control of the transmission comprises actuating a controller 11 to enter the programming mode in which a rider manually shifts the bicycle transmission through selected gears; storing bicycle speeds for the selected gears associated with the manual shifts; the controller defining speed ranges for the selected gears; automatically shifting the bicycle transmission when operating in the automatic mode by measuring a current bicycle speed; determining a current gear of the bicycle transmission; comparing the current bicycle speed with a defined speed range for the current gear; and shifting the bicycle transmission from the current gear to another gear when the bicycle speed in outside the defined speed range for the current gear. The gear shift system in addition to the controller comprises a wheel speed input sensor 12; a gear control output 17,18; a display 23 which Ancarani Restelli further discloses in lines 33-45 of column 2, displays at least the current bicycle speed as well as the current gear ratio; a mode selector; a shifter; and a memory 30 on which a computer program is recorded.

NOT AVAILABLE COPY

Ancarani Restelli discloses the basic apparatus except for automatically shifting the bicycle transmission when operating in the automatic mode by using only bicycle speed. However, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to eliminate parameters other than bicycle speed for bicycle transmission shifting, since omission of an element and its function where not needed is obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art. Ex parte Rainu, 168 USPQ 375 (PTO Bd. of App. 1969). Subject matter is not patentable in absence of showing unexpected result[s] flowing from such omission. In re Wilson, 153 USPQ 740 (CCPA 1967).

Regarding claims 5,12, and 27, shifting the bicycle transmission into the lowest gear upon actuation of the setting mode would be inherent so that all of the gears of the bicycle transmission will be manually selected during the setting mode thus ensuring a speed range is defined for all selectable gears.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-32 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Ancarani Restelli does not consider pedaling cadence as a goal or criterion for automatic shifting control of a bicycle.
